Woodruff Library Preparing Shakur’s Writings for Scholarly Access

The Tupac Amaru Shakur Foundation and Afeni Shakur-Davis, mother of platinum recording artist, actor and poet, Tupac Shakur, are partnering with the Robert W. Woodruff Library of the Atlanta University Center to make available for scholarly research Shakur’s manuscript writings and other papers. Prior to his untimely death at the age of 25, Shakur had released five albums and appeared in four motion pictures to great success. Ten albums, numerous compilations and four feature films have been released posthumously, including the film, Tupac, Resurrection, which received an Academy Award nomination for “Best Documentary (Feature).”

Currently housed within the Library’s Archives & Special Collections Department, the Tupac Shakur Collection features Shakur’s handwritten lyrics and track listings, personal notes, video and film concepts, fan correspondence, promotional materials and other items. The Collection is expected to be open for research in Fall 2010.

“Mr. Shakur was a multi-dimensional artist, who helped define a musical genre, and as the academic library serving four institutions of higher learning, it is our mission, as well as a great privilege, to help promote scholarship and research of his work, and the mechanics of his creative process and the hip hop culture,” said Loretta Parham, CEO & Library Director.

The Coca-Cola Company Gives $1.2 Million to the Woodruff Library

The Robert W. Woodruff Library of the Atlanta University Center (AUC) has received $1.2 million from The Coca-Cola Company to upgrade the Library's IT infrastructure and enhance its ability to manage and provide access to critical archival documents, such as the Morehouse College Martin Luther King Jr. Collection. The upgrades will be completed as a part of the Library renovation now underway.

The Company also presented a total of $6 million to Clark Atlanta University, Morehouse College, the Morehouse School of Medicine and Spelman College to provide scholarship funding that will assist students facing economic hardship impacting their ability to complete their degrees.

Muhtar Kent, chairman and CEO of The Coca-Cola Company, made check presentations to CEO & Library Director Loretta Parham and the AUC college and university presidents during a September 9 breakfast celebration held at the Library.

“We view this as an investment in the next generation of students who will pass through these campuses, continue their education and benefit from having Dr. King’s papers within arm’s reach,” Kent said.

UPCOMING EVENT: Book Signing for Maynard Jackson Biography

On Friday, October 30, at 6:30 PM, your Woodruff Library will sponsor a Q&A session and book signing featuring Clark Atlanta University Professor Emeritus and former Georgia State Legislator Dr. Robert A. (Bob) Holmes and his latest work, Maynard Jackson: A Biography.

Maynard Jackson (1938-2003) was the youngest and first African American Mayor of Atlanta, and is thought to be the first African American chief executive of a major Southern city.

During the program, Holmes will discuss his written account of the three-term mayor's political life and the factors that shaped his goals and motivations, leadership style, accomplishments and shortcomings. With insight gained as a member of Jackson’s mayoral campaign and transitional teams coupled with experience as a state legislator, Holmes will also delve into the far-reaching impact Jackson administrations have had on the city of Atlanta’s political landscape.

Call 404-978-2003 or email afavors@aucr.edu to R.S.V.P. to the October 30 event.

Operation Olive Branch...
Dressed in green t-shirts, Library staff greeted over 1,500 AUC students during the Olive Branch “After Party” on August 22 in the Spelman College parking lot. Students met their librarians, received key tags with virtual orientation guide and website URLs and picked up frozen treats to help cool off on that warm Georgia evening.
